Secretary's Note

IN presenting this report to the Class of 1896 I regret that all the members of the Class have not had either the time or the inclination to answer my request for some account of their lives since leaving college. There are still a few men of or from whom I have not heard a word, and their names will be found in the addendum at the end of Report. It will be noticed that no distinction has been made between men receiving degrees and so-called "temporary" members of the Class. I can see no reason for such distinction and have put the names simply in alphabetical order. I have refrained from statistics and tables of any sort, as such things make very uninteresting reading, and whatever information I have about individual members will be found under each man's name. As far as possible I have kept each man's reply intact, and as many took my suggestions as absolute questions and answered them as such by numbers, for convenience' sake I will repeat them here: —

1. Present address.
2. Schools attended and degrees received.
3. Present occupation, together with whatever other positions you have held since leaving college.
4. If married, when and to whom.
5. Names of children and dates of birth.

HENRY R. STORRS.

Brookline, Mass., June 1, 1901.

For four years, from September, 1896, to June, 1900, I was an instructor in the high school of said city. At different times I have taught algebra, English History, English Composition, English literature, Elocution, and French. In all I did good work; but, in the last two named subjects, to which I devoted a deal of time, I met with very evident success. When in June, 1900, one of the grammar schools was in need of a master, I was elected to the position: Master of the John R. Rollins School. I entered upon the duties of my new position last September. How long I shall teach school I do not know. But I have profited by my past errors to this extent: that what I am supposed to be doing, I shall do thoroughly; then I can have nothing to reproach myself.

I finished my academic course so as to become a member of the Harvard Law School the year of '95–'96. I attended the Law School the following year, also. My eyes, which had given me great trouble for some time, made it necessary for me at this point to give up study and I went to the Pacific Coast, where I remained until April, 1899, when I came back to my home in Princeton, Maine. I remained there until September, '99, when I came to New York City and took a position as clerk in the law offices of Burr, Coombs & Wilson, at 84 Broadway, Brooklyn Borough, where I now am. MOSES MONTEFIORE BIENENSTOCK

By the grace of God and the goodness of some men, based on what little ability I am supposed to possess, I am at present Editor of the finest and largest Jewish monthly paper in the United States, yclept "The Owl." My connection with this bird of wisdom began over a year ago, when, by a series of coincidences called fate, I became St. Louis editor for the publication. So well did the owners of the paper esteem my services that they sent me a railroad pass and a tempting offer to come to New Orleans. I accepted and used the pass, and have since endeavored to sway the destinies of nations by wielding my editorial typewriter for the benefit of a benighted humanity in need of such pabulum as I might dish out from my two-by-four sanctum. My fellow-students may be glad to know that in this delightful occupation I have at least found some happiness — and it need not be added that material riches are not the only things which produce such a condition. Since leaving college my path has been a bed of northern roses in the winter time — practically all thorns. Thanks to the padding and filling in the shape of the finances of my family, I have never yet frozen nor starved to death, and free libraries have kept me intellectually alive. For a time I was a ubiquitous nuisance dubbed a reporter, on the St. Louis Star; then for a few dollars a week more, I went in the same capacity to the St. Louis Chronicle. For some six months I was a bookkeeper in a commission house in St. Louis, and for about the same period I did a similar drudgery for a broom-corn concern. I gained some prominence during this time by writing for various papers, and by being secretary to a large charitable and educational fair held at the St. Louis Coliseum, which attracted me to the attention of an insurance agent who gave me a job — not a position, understand — as a solicitor and manager of a department in his office. From this oblivion my present employers had the good sense to rescue me. If I retain my health and behave myself there is no reason why I should not be most eminently successful in journalism. I have written for a number of papers — and have among other things produced three novels. One was published serially in a paper up north and was copied by some hard up editors in San Francisco; another went the rounds of the Eastern publishing houses, and now is in the possession of a northern journal — which some day may have the poor judgment to perpetrate it; the third (written first, by the way) is in the possession of a young lady friend, who evidently never thought it worth returning, as she has kept the MSS. for over a year, and I never had the moral courage to have even asked her how she liked it. This novel I copyrighted while still in Boston. It was written in my college days, and is a poor result of my English 22 course. If it were not for all these facts I would have gotten the MSS. back — through a messenger boy and a note — long ago. But as it is, I am rather too chary to even broach the subject to the young lady. I will say that some of my short stories have achieved a local fame, but Scribner's, Harper's, and the others of this ilk have n't the right kind of spectacles for the recognition of "good things." Some day they 'll catch on, but it will be too late, as my prices will then be in proportion to my accomplishments, and what they can get for a song, they will then have to pay a whole series of Wagnerian operas for. I have been too busy and too poor ever to have thought of inflicting myself for life on any fair or swarthy demoiselle. This is a terse autobiography of myself since my quituation from Harvard. It is prosy and very unromantic. There is one thing, however, that I want to say in closing, I have "ground out" much copy, I have written many stories, and I have half-heartedly kept books and drawn pay for mean work poorly done; I have solicited plate-glass insurance and newspaper advertising on one or two occasions, but I have never so far degraded or disgraced Harvard University as to try to get any of the poetic (?) effusions of which I have once or twice been guilty, into print. I trust, therefore, that for the things I might have done and did n't, as well as for those which I should have done and did, that those with whom I had the honor to be associated at college will always rank me as worthy of their friendship. Address, Editor "The Owl," New Orleans, La.

CHARLES SAWYER BRYANT

After graduating from the College I entered the Medical School and passed a more or less uneventful course there. For two years I had the pleasure of working under Prof. Wood and Dr. Ogden. My summers were spent in work at the different hospitals. In January, 1900, I received an appointment as House Officer at the Children's Hospital of Boston and served there for one year. Then I emigrated, came to the forests of Maine, and located as the accident surgeon of the Great Northern Paper Company in Millinocket. Thanks to the selectmen — as the place has been settled but two years and has been a town not yet two months — I have the honor of being the first chairman of the first Board of Health. Aside from these few happenings my life has passed without any very striking episodes. I am not yet a husband — and, alas! have no prospects, although I think that once I was in love. Nor have I become rich and handsome. But I am still one of the innumerable strugglers who hope there may be room at the top but who finds the way up terribly crowded. Millinocket, Maine.

WILLIAM BRADFORD BUCK

Since graduation in '96, I have spent two years in the Harvard Graduate School, taking work in History, Philosophy, and English chiefly, and receiving a Master's degree in '98 with four courses to spare. Leaving Cambridge July 1, 1898, I took up "institutional" church work on the lower East Side of New York City in connection with the People's Home Church, a small Methodist congregation near Thompkins Square, where I remained until January 1, 1900. My work since that time has been in connection with the Cuban Orphan Society. To suggestions 4 and 5 I must plead "not guilty." My present address is 11 Broadway, New York City.

The "story of my life" since leaving college is rather brief; it might be resumed as follows: After graduation I took the first steamer for Europe and proceeded immediately to Paris, where I spent the succeeding four and a half years studying architecture in the "École des Beaux Arts" in the atelier of M. Laloux. I came back to New York in October, 1900, and a fortnight later came to Buffalo, where I have been since working on designs for the Pan-Am. Exposition in the architectural office of Carrère & Hastings of New York. I shall probably remain here only a month longer and return to Manhattan, soon I hope, to hang out a shingle of my own. 1078 Elmwood Ave., Buffalo.

ELLERY HARDING CLARK

In response to your request (which I consider a model) I proceed to lay bare the secrets of my past life. Present address, 43 Bay State Road, Boston. Attended Harvard Law School three years and got a degree — a plain, ordinary one. Sept. 1, 1899, went to work in law office of Hurlburt, Jones & Cabot, 426 Exchange Bld'g., Boston, Mass. Sept. 1, 1900, signed on for another year in same place and am happy. Am not married, and would therefore regard any discussion of Question 5 as frivolous. Am still able to shoot coot in the customary numbers.

ELTON CLARK

I am now living at School Lane, Germantown, Pa., where I have lived all my life. Since leaving Harvard I have graduated from the University of Pennsylvania Law School and am now practising law in my brother's office at 710 Bullitt Bldg., Phila. There is little else for me to add, tho' some of my classmates may be interested to know that I have kept up my cricket since leaving College and have played on the teams which have represented the United States and Philadelphia for the past five years.

ALFRED CODMAN

1. I have no permanent address. I wish I had, but I have n't. I may have when I 'm married, but then I may never get married. Cottage St., West Roxbury, Mass., is as good as any.
2. Thank God I have attended no more schools. Roxbury Latin was enough for me; too much.
3. I 'm still at the same old "biz," and I have been at it since June, 1896, so I ought to be pretty damn good, eh? With F. S. Mead & Co., 7 Exchange Place, Boston, Stock-brokers, who will be glad, at my request, to make your fortune as quickly or as slowly as you may order.
4. Unfortunately I am still single. Are you?
5. Not knowing I cannot say, therefore I decline to answer.

This took me just six minutes. It was dead easy.

GEORGE WILLIS CREELMAN

My present address is Lakeville, Connecticut, where I am a master in the Hotchkiss School. Since leaving college I have not married, I have received no degrees, no honors, and altogether, "I 'm farther off from heaven than when I was a boy." After one has finished Geology 4 and Philosophy 1, what else is worth knowing? Since college, I have learned to ride a bronco, and play a fair game of golf. Since graduating from College, I have taught in the Thacher School in the Ojai Valley in Southern California, in the Belmont School and in the Hotchkiss School at Lakeville, where I am quite contented to remain. A master's life in a modern preparatory school is never dull. The Hotchkiss School prepares largely for Yale, yet occasional discerning ones go to Harvard. The Harvard element in the school is small but vigorous. In politics, I could n't vote for either McKinley or Bryan. Otherwise, I 'm a democrat.

EVERETT LARCOM CREESY

Since leaving College I have for two years been Assistant in the Geology Dept. of Harvard Univ., two years on the United States Geological Survey, and have studied geology and modelling in Switzerland at the Polytechnikum under Prof. Dr. Albert Heine.

I have as Geologist Sculptor taken up as a specialty a new line of work, the representation in relief of Land Forms. In that line I have constructed a set of type models, with Prof. W. M. Davis, known as "The Harvard Geographical Models" (Ginn & Co., Pub.); an innovation in apparatus for teaching Physical Geography. Of the other reliefs I have made, the most important is the great model of the Metropolitan District of Boston, which the State (of Mass.) has just exhibited at the Paris Exposition, winning the Gold medal. This was the largest relief map and most detailed yet made in America, and required the assistance of about 30 people for 8 months. The "Boston Model" is to be sent to the Pan-American Exposition, after which it is to be permanently installed in some public building. It is too large to be shipped by rail and must go to Buffalo through the Canal. I wrote a Description of the Model of the Metropolitan District of Boston, 37 pp., with illustrations (Wright & Potter, Printing Co. 1900).

HARRY APPLETON CURTIS

Of course at present I am "practising law," or emulating the renowned Peter Stirling to a slight extent. HERBERT WILBUR DUTCH

Your peroration was so persuasive that married or unmarried a fellow has to take the time to reply. Since leaving college I have been exceedingly busy in a quiet way, setting no river on fire, or getting my name in print to any extent. Present address is Winchester, Mass. From the fall of '96 to the spring of '98 I taught in the Winchester High School as an assistant, and doing considerable private work in preparing boys for college. From the fall of 1898 to the spring of 1900 I was principal of the Hallowell, Maine, High School; while there my interest in educational work led me to do all I could to raise the standard of work and school life. Since you ask for positions held I will mention the small minor ones which I have endeavored to fill, — the only ones too. I was President of the Educational Union of the City of Hallowell, and Vice-President of the Kennebec County Teachers' Association. I am now sub-master of the Winchester High School, giving instruction in Greek, Latin, History, and English. For two years I was clerk of the Winchester Unitarian Society and am now Superintendent of the Sunday School. These details I mention not for use as data but to show you that I have tried to be an all-round useful citizen in the school and in the church. I am unmarried, and shall be so, probably, for several years yet. Simply say, then, that this member of '96 is a typical Bostonian pedagogue.

WILLIAM PAINE DUTTON

Before April, '99, I worked, say, one year for the Secretary of H. U. and two years or so for the Bursar of H. U. Topics Four and Five don't hit me anywhere.

GEORGE ALONZO HOWE

The Le Grand Quarry Co., Marshalltown, Iowa. There is n't much to tell. I came out here in the fall of '96 to go into the business of quarrying limestone with the Le Grand Quarry Co. The following winter I spent in California — not for my health. With the exception of that trip and a few other months of travel I have been in Marshalltown continuously. Nothing startling has happened to me since leaving college, perhaps because my life out here has not been of the strenuous order. I have not been married nor in love, nor had any other catastrophe of any kind.

ABRAM HARBACH HOWLAND

Soon after leaving college I went to work for the Mexican Central R. R. Co. in the supply department, and was located in the City of Mexico. After a while I was made wood and tie inspector, and spent most of the time travelling up and down the system. After having been with the Co. a little over a year I received a very good offer from La Esperanza Mining Co. of El Oro in the State of Mexico, which offer I accepted. After about ten months of really interesting work, I grew dissatisfied with the monotonous, almost absolutely lonely life, and decided to return to the "States." Two months later found me in another lonely spot, namely, Ashfork, Arizona, at which place I lived while working for B. Lantry Sons, railroad contractors; but the work only lasted till early summer, and now I have been in the store department of the Burlington Route for over a year and am at present located in Kansas City. My address is the Virginia Hotel. No, I am not married, thank you, nor have I any children.

GRAHAM PUTNAM HUNT

I left college sick after or during the mid-years of Junior year. The year and a half following I devoted to an attempt to recover my health, and then entered the Law Department of the University of Cincinnati. After two years' attendance there I was admitted to the Ohio Bar in June, 1898, and have been in active practice ever since. Am at present junior member of the firm of Moulinier, Bettman & Hunt, with offices in the St. Paul Bldg., in Cincinnati. In November, 1899, I was elected as a Republican to the Ohio Legislature, and am at present a member of that body. I am unmarried and have no children.

JOHN CUMMINGS HUNT

After leaving college I tried to earn a living for several months at real estate in Boston in the office of G. B. Elliot, but not liking that sort of work, accepted the position of assistant receiving teller at the International Trust Company of Boston. I managed to remain caged there until November, 1897, and then came to New York. I entered the publishing house of R. H. Russell, where I am at present building books, having charge of the manufacturing department. In spite of our fresh Ivy Orator I am still a member of the unmarried contingent, which now, in New York at least, assumes the proportions of a thin red line of heroes.

JOHN HENRY ISELIN

Present address, 63 Wall Street, New York City. In the fall of '96 I matriculated at the Columbia University Law School, where I remained a student until the 2d of May, 1898, when on the declaration of war with Spain, I, being a member of Squadron "A," N. G. S. N. Y., was mustered into the U. S. Volunteer service as a private in Troop "A," New York Volunteers. We spent some time in Camp Alger near Washington, where I received my corporal's stripes, and was finally ordered to Porto Rico with General Miles's Expedition. The short campaign on that island gave me an attack of coast fever, from which I have hardly yet recovered. Soon after the protocol, was invalided home, and discharged with my Troop in the following November. I at once resumed my legal studies, although much discouraged to find that the Law School authorities would not allow the time spent in the United States service to count towards the two years of study in a law school required under our rules of a college graduate, in order to render him eligible for examination for the bar; our Court of Appeals was more patriotic and less illiberal, however, and by a special rule made by them to fit my case and others like it, I was able to come up for the examination in February, 1899, and to pass it. I at once began the practice of the law at my present address, and have ever since kept diligently at it. In February, 1898, I became engaged to Miss Caroline Lydia Goodridge, whom I married on the 31st of May, 1899. Our small son was born on the 21st of February, 1901.

I was there nearly three years, gradually working up till I became a book-keeper. I left there to enter the Cement Manufacturing business with the Knickerbocker Cement Company. In January, 1899, I left on a trip through the Mediterranean in company with two other Harvard men, one a classmate. I left them in Egypt and continued to China, where I went into business again as an agent for the firm of Fearon, Daniel & Co. of New York and Shanghai. For them I spent the summer and autumn in the north of China at principally Newchwang and Port Arthur, selling supplies to the Manchurian Branch of the Trans-Siberian R.R. I returned to Shanghai at the end of the season, and left there for home in the spring (April), when business became affected by the outbreak. Part of my trip home — from Honolulu to San Francisco — was made in a sailing ship. I have again entered the cement business with the firm of Curtiss & Vervalen, 66 Maiden Lane, New York. In addition to his work in the hospital he attended lectures at Rush Med. Col., Chicago, and was in his last term when his work was cut short.

JOSEPH HILLYER THAYER MARTIN

My residence is the same as at graduation, — Woodbridge, Middlesex County, New Jersey. At graduation I had already spent one year in the Harvard Law School; the year '96–'97 was also devoted to the same school, and the '97–'98 I attended the Columbia Law School. I now greatly regret the latter year's occupation. I returned to Cambridge in June, 1898, took the Law School examinations for the third year, and received the degree of LL.B. with the class of '98. I was admitted to the Bar as a practising lawyer in New York at the November term, 1898, and was admitted as a practising lawyer in New Jersey at the November term, 1899. At present I am principally engaged in Newark, N. J., where my office address is 776 Broad St. I am not married, and there seems to be no prospect of such an event in the future. None of my experiences have been sufficiently exciting, nor my achievements sufficiently important, to interest the class at large.

EDWARD ROSCOE MATTHEWS

28 East 9th St., New York. My early education was gained in the Gymnasia of Berlin and the Lycées of Paris. I returned to this country in 1891 and entered Phillips Exeter Academy

There I secured a diploma (this I can prove, as I have it framed). On graduating from Harvard I became a reporter on the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph. In a few months I wearied of the confines of Philadelphia, craving the higher life of New York. I came to New York in April, 1897, and secured a position at dollars a week on the Times. And such times as I had! In a comparatively short time journalism ceased to hold any honors for me, and I entered the publishing business. In a year I became head of the firm of Charles Scribner's Sons. As by this time I was tired of publishing, I sold out the business and went into Wall St. to spend my money. I bought a seat on the New York Stock Exchange, which cost me only $140,000, and am now what is vulgarly known as a banker. Was married to Miss Loulie Shaw Albee on Sept. 14, 1899, at Nahant, Mass.

JOHN LATHROP MATHEWS

Travelling in a houseboat built for (and occupied by) two. Destination, New Orleans, still many weeks ahead.

SAMUEL MAY

After graduation went to the University of North Carolina as Instructor in Modern Languages. His courses were those of the first and second years in French and German, and in a very short time became most popular with the students and faculty. About the first week of March, 1900, he was taken ill with the grippe, but became quite convalescent, when a sudden change developed symptoms of pneumonia, which deprived him of consciousness and carried him off at the expiration of twenty-four hours, his death occurring on Tuesday, March 20th.

BENJAMIN CHARLES MEAD

I hasten to comply with your request. It is an easy task. During the two years following my graduation I tutored two youngsters for college, though the classic method of the pupils following the master about was in this case reversed. The spring and autumn months were spent in their home in Philadelphia, the winter months on a game-preserve in Georgia. It may not be amiss to say that one pupil succeeded in getting into Harvard. The other fell by the wayside. In the fall of '98 I entered the Harvard Law School with Geo. W. Matthews and Joseph Morrill, and expect with them to represent '96 in the list of those receiving Law degrees next June. After next June I expect to practise at my home in Auburn, N. Y. I am not engaged nor married, nor have I any children.

LOUIS GUY MEAD

Present address, Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, Mass. Graduated at Harvard Medical School and am now in the medical house office of the above hospital.

BENJAMIN SHORES MERIGOLD

At the same time I taught in the college a little as assistant in chemistry. Took A.M. in '97. Am now instructor in chemistry in Worcester Polytechnic Institute. Not married.

ROGER BIGELOW MERRIAM

Balliol College, Oxford. Nothing very thrilling has happened to me since June, '91; at least, I am not married or even engaged, as most people seem to be. I came back, '96–'97, to Harvard and took A.M. in History and Modern Languages, and played some 'Varsity football. '97–'99 I was here in Balliol College, Oxford, when I took what they call a "research degree" in History, with a thesis on the "Life and Letters of Thomas Cromwell." I had the time of my life, and did a good deal of rowing, tennis, etc., besides my work, which was most arduous. '99–1900 I went back to Harvard, and was assistant in History 1 in college and lectured in it a lot in Radcliffe. I also passed the principal examination for the Ph.D. and got my thesis taken for it. There is an insignificant "special examination" which remains, and which I hope to take a year from June. Last autumn I came back to Europe, worked a semester in Berlin, where I learned a great deal and had a most boring time, and now, thank Heaven, I am back here for a short time, trying to get the Clarenden Press to print my thesis on T. Cromwell, which they won't. I expect to go back to Germany for one semester, and next year to Paris for a time, and then I must come home and get a job as a history instructor somewhere. That's about all there is to it. The road to become a good professor nowadays is long, and I won't be a third-class one or in a third-class college for anything, so I am taking my time. I hate to feel so behindhand now, but I think it is wise in the end. Permanent address is Worcester, Mass.

ARTHUR MARWOOD MERRYWEATHER

Since leaving Cambridge I have been with the Engineering Dept. of the Penna. R. R. Co., — Coxe Bros. & Co. Incor., — and for the last two years with the Engr. Dept. of the People's Gas Light & Coke Co., Chicago. I am not married. Present address is 466 Elm St., Chicago, Ill.

NELSON CASE METCALF

I am at present located in Chicago, and live comfortably in Evanston, around the corner from Ek Kales' whom I see often. My business experience has had little color, but such as it is, I give it to you. From Feb., 1897, to Aug., 1899, I was employed as clerk at the University Press, Cambridge. From there, I went to the Cambridge Tribune, serving them for several months as Advertising Agent. In April, 1900, I was offered a position in the advertising department of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy R. R. Co., and I am now chief clerk of that department. My address is 209 Adams St., Chicago.

DAVE HENNEN MORRIS

Morris Building, 68 Broad Street, New York City. On the 19th of June, 1895, at the end of my Junior year, I was married to Alice Vanderbilt Shepard. I returned to Cambridge in October of that year to finish my course at Harvard. I rented No. 9 Waterhouse Street, where I kept house. I was taken ill with typhoid fever in December during a visit to New Orleans for the holidays. I was unable to return to Cambridge until the end of April. Fortunately, I was well ahead in my studies, so that I was only required to take two examinations to get my degree magna cum laude, and three honorable mentions. After graduation I went to Europe and spent a year there. The following winter I returned to Westchester, New York. I was made President of the Board of Trustees of the New York Medical College & Hospital for Women, and I devoted a great deal of time to that Institution, with the result that we were able to build a handsome new building at No. 19 West 101st Street. In 1899 I bought 269 West 72d Street, where I now live. I took up the study of Law at the New York Law School, besides carrying on business generally at 68 Broad Street. About the Christmas Holidays of last year I was again attacked with typhoid fever, but I got over it in short order and resumed my work at the School, where I am now taking the Post Graduate Course. In October of this year I was nominated by the Democratic party for Senator from Westchester County and the Annexed District of New York City. I was defeated in the general landslide, but I am glad to say that from present returns I ran ahead of my ticket throughout the District. I have a son, who was born on the 14th of June, 1900. His name is Dave Hennen Morris, Junior.

I began work there Sept. 6, 1896, and remained till July, 1898, and was again offered the position, but declined. From Aug., 1898, till Sept., '99, I remained with my father, J. A. Morris, Kennon, Ohio.

Considerable of my time is also taken up by the National Republican League, of which I was elected Vice-President at the convention in Saint Paul, in August, '00. Have written a few short stories with Louis Howe, '95. Am giving up a little time to the study of law, but do not expect to have time to practise any if admitted. After graduating I attended the Harvard Law School for three years, but was unable to graduate there, owing to persistent headaches. In October, 1899, I returned to Buffalo, and entered the office of Moot Sprague, Brownell & Marcy, and attended some lectures on New York law at the Buffalo Law School. In January, 1900, I took and passed the New York bar examinations. On June 30, 1900, I sailed from Boston on the Massachusetts Nautical Training Ship Enterprise, touching at Southampton, Havre, Gibraltar, Tangiers, and Madeira, reaching Boston again, October 16. VERNON MUNROE

After graduation and a summer abroad, I settled down at a desk in a commission merchant's office, where the three years' monotony was first broken in October, '97, by my going to Trinidad and up the Orinoco as supercargo on a tramp steamer for the firm. The second break came at the time of the war, when I enlisted, and served in Virginia and Porto Rico with troop A., N. Y. Vol. Cavalry. Dyer, Knudsen, Iselin, Outerbridge, and Satterlee were in the troop, and we carried peace wherever we went. Since then I have tried my hand at several employments and found them not good. My present address is Hotel Cambridge, 33d St. & Fifth Ave., N. Y. City. Since leaving college have been engaged in Stock Broking business. Am a member of N. Y. Stock Exchange, and my firm is Worden & Co., 3 Broad St., N. Y. City. In the late war with Spain I left business and joined Roosevelt's Rough Riders and was in all engagements in Cuba excepting El Caney, which was stormed and taken by regulars only. Have been much broken in health ever since. I was married at Palm Beach, Jan. 29, 1901, to Mrs. Henri Cutting (née Angela Mills), widow of Henri M. Cutting. Before coming to Cambridge I first went to Cutler's School in N. Y., and after being there a year, went to St. Mark's, Southboro, Mass., for five years.
